

WINTER FLOWERS

Brighten up a drab winter garden with colorful stems or winter flowers.

February Daphne (Daphne mezereum) - Fragrant dark purple flowers along stems

Camellia—Most varieties, in red, pink, or white

Flowering Quince (Chanomeles) - pink, salmon, white flowers

Twig Dogwoods (Cornus varieties) - bright red, yellow or orange stems

Winterhazel (Corylopsis) - pale yellow flowers hang from bare stems

Contorted Filbert (Corylus avellana 'Contorta')—Twisted and gnarly stems, plus pendant catkins hanging from the branches.

Heather (Erica or Calluna) - many varieties with shades of pink or white flowers, also gold to orange foliated plants, or varieties with bright orange, red, or yellow new growth!

Forsythia—bright yellow flowers along long stems

Witchhazel (Hamamelis) - red, orange, or yellow flowers, some fragrant

Oregon Grape (Mahonia) - yellow flowers

Pussywillow (Salix varieties) - creamy white catkins

Sweetbox (Sarcococca) - small white flowers, extremely fragrant

Skimmia—flat topped clusters of tiny white flowers

Pink Dawn Viburnum—small clusters of soft pink flowers, fragrant
