Our goal is to get you just what you need to succeed.

Valley Nursery is committed to helping the home gardener be successful. Together with our experienced Garden Coaches/Designers you can get your questions answered to develop a custom plan for your garden. If you are in need of some instant color, we have just the program for that.

Our Gardening Coach

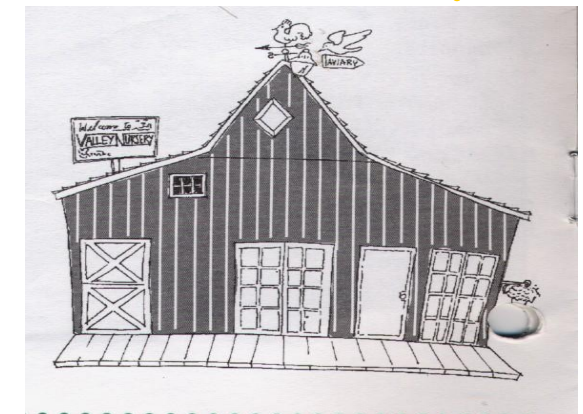

Pam Sinclair has worked for Valley Nursery since May of 2009 and has been our Gardening Coach for over a year.

Pam is well qualified for this position. She has a Bachelor of Architecture Degree from the University of Washington as well as a AA in Landscape Design from Edmonds Community College and is a Certified Professional Horticulturist.

Pam has had her own Gardening Consultation and Design business for the last 15 years and has worked at several Seattle area nurseries. She has written gardening articles for various publications and has lectured extensively on a wide range of garden topics, including teaching plant ID workshops for Lake Washington Technical College, where she was a member of their Horticultural Advisory Board.

Pam lives in Indianola with a cocker spaniel and a big orange cat as her gardening companions. She loves to collect dwarf conifers and Japanese Maples.

Garden Design Service

Good garden design is more than just a pleasing collection of plants. A good design organizes your outdoor space for the way you live and more; expresses your values and personality; and enhances the architecture and market value of your home! Our Garden Designer will help guide you through the process of creating a custom design for your property or any portion of it. Specific aspects of the design process may vary, depending on the size of the project. You can stop at any point along the way to step 3, which is a detailed planting plan drawn to scale with a list of plants and quantities, that you can either bring to our nursery and purchase or give to a landscape contractor for installation bids.

Step 1

- Initial on site meeting to discuss project
- Client completes design survey
- Design plan written and agreed upon
- Site is measured and base map to scale is produced
- Concept drawings produced to show layout options
- Second meeting on site to discuss concept drawings

Step 2 (optional)

- Preliminary plan produced to show exact locations and dimensions of landscape elements, materials to be used.
- Third meeting on site to present and discuss preliminary plan

Step 3 (optional)

- Detailed planting plan produced to scale
- Complete plant list with botanical names and quantities given
- Final meeting to present and discuss planting plans and plant list

Rates: $80.00 1st hour
$60 per hour after that
